Tobias Titz

Based in Melbourne German born photographer Tobias Titz works for clients such as BMW Magazine, Fujitsu Siemens Computer and Sony BMG.

He also likes to make sure he has time to focus on his personal projects such as the award winning Polaroid scratch series.

After completing his photography apprenticeship in his German hometown Bad Kreuznach Tobias successfully applied to study at the Staatliche Fachakademie fuer Fotodesign (State Academy for Photo Design) in Munich, Germany, from where internationally renowned photographers such as Juergen Teller graduated. After successfully graduating he worked as a freelance photographer in Munich before he moved to Australia.

Tobias is passionate about all aspects of people and portrait photography. He particularly enjoys capturing people in their own surroundings – even if that means travelling thousands of kilometres.

His work is included in the ACMP collection and has been exhibited nationally and in Europe. Tobias won a first prize at the international Polaroid Award in 2000 and has been short listed as one of the top ten Australian Portrait Photographers by the Capture Magazine's 2007 Australia's Top Photographers Award.
